

School Breakfast and Lunch with Summer Food Service Sites

Lack of access to healthy food can negatively impact child development, leading to delays in learning, critical thinking, and overall health outcomes. School lunch programs are great ways to support children's nutrition and ensure that every child can excel in the classroom. During the summer, children who participate in these programs often lack access to adequate nutrition. Summer food service sites are vital in filling many children's nutritional needs over the summer months.

Percentage of Children Who Ate School Breakfast and Lunch Per County

Map Creator: Allison Bowers in conjunction with FeedVA | Data Sources: Virginia Department of Education National School Lunch Program Free and Reduced Price Eligibility Reports & No Kid Hungry Virginia | Date Created: 12/05/18