

The Southeast Regional Food Business Center (SRFBC) helps small- and mid-sized producers overcome barriers to market access to create a more resilient, diverse, and competitive food system.

The SRFBC focuses on supporting underserved farmers, ranchers, and food businesses and providing localized assistance to access supply chains, including linking producers to wholesalers and distributors.

PROGRAM DETAILS

$15.7 Million

Sub-awarded to 27 grassroots organizations to build capacity

$6.5 Million

To support and administer technical assistance

$4.9 Million

To award Business Builder Grants to producers across the region

The SRBC...

- Coordinates
- Builds Capacity
- Provides Technical Assistance

The SRBC also administers Business Builder Grants to farm and food business.

FUNDING

The Southeast Regional Food Business Center is one of 12 USDA Regional Food Business Centers (RFBCs) throughout the US as part of the USDA's Food System Transformation Framework.

CONTACT

Lauren DeSimone

Director, Place-Based and Food Systems Investment
ldesimone@locusimpact.org

<https://locusimpact.org>

Want to view a virtual version of this poster? Scan this QR code!